OUR SECRET SINS

I have no appetite or inclination to pry into the lives of people and expose their secret sins, be they great or small, but a friend told me a story the other night that is worth relating, even at the risk of being accused of Walter Winchell propensities.

There is a couple in this town, who in common with a large part of the human race, just cannot resist the temptation of taking a chance once in a while. Of course it is not gambling, but just backing their judgment, you know.

Each, however, has concealed the peccadillo from the other, and each is fearful that their peccancy will be brought to the knowledge of the other half. However, they have a mutual friend, to whom they confide, he being their safety valve or conscience-easier as it were.

Not long since the lady member of the nuptial combination met the mutual friend and imparted the information that she had won four dollars on the World Series, but disclosed the information with the strict admonition: "Under no circumstances tell George. He has no idea that I would bet, and I tremble to think what he would say if he found out."

A few days later the breadwinner of the combination, meeting the same man, gleefully announced that he had picked the winner of the California-St. Mary's football game and accordingly was ten dollars richer than he had been before the event. "But don't let Mary know it," he said.

Football Night Is Featured By Richmond Elks

Football night was held by the Richmond Lodge of Elks last evening at the clubrooms with Ruel S. Crose as chairman of the evening.

Frank Ribbel, Arleith Williams and Phil Hempler of the high school football coaching staff were interviewed by Crose.

Ribbel gave an interesting talk to the lodge members, urging that they turn out and support the Richmond high school football team which has gone undefeated thus far this season.

Coch Williams, former California star, told of his experiences in football games and reviewed the present season.

Hempler gave a most interesting talk on football highlights.

Next Sunday morning Elks will board a boat at the Richmond Navigation company's docks at 6 o'clock to push off on a bass derby. There will be prizes for the largest fish caught. Al Caster, local business man and fishing expert, heads the committee in charge.

Next Tuesday night Standard Oil Night will be held with John A. Bell in charge.

Severance Body Holds Sessions

Assemblyman T. H. DeLap returned yesterday from Eureka where on Monday, he, as a member of the lower house of the legislative severance tax committee, held a meeting, the subject under inquiry being lumber.

Taking care of legal business here yesterday, DeLap will leave today for Santa Cruz where the committee will again meet, and from there will go to Long Beach.

The severance committee is an ad interim body, and to it is delegated the duty of making a report and having it on Governor Frank P. Merriam's desk by the first of January of next year. Upon the findings the governor will doubtless predicate recommendations to the special session of the legislature, if and when it meets, otherwise to the regular session in 1937.

France Asks Fleet Be Removed To Aid Peace Negotiations

LONDON, (Wednesday) Oct. 16.—UP—The British government has decided to inform Premier Pierre Laval of France that the British fleet will remain in the Mediterranean until London is satisfied that Anglo-Italian relations rest on a basis of lasting friendship, the Daily Herald's diplomatic expert said today.

He added it was felt here that Laval's attempts to persuade Il Duce to halt Italy's military activities in Ethiopia already were doomed to failure. Laval wanted the British home fleet removed from the Mediterranean to facilitate peace efforts.

STRAINED RELATIONS

PARIS, Wednesday, Oct. 16.—UP—French government officials regarded an intervention in Franco-British relations as "most grave," according to Paris morning newspapers.

Disturbing developments in the Italo-Ethiopian war and the international situation, they fear, may result in a clash this week-end at Geneva between France and her European allies, with the latter probably siding with Britain in case of a show-down on sanctions against Italy and France's proposal that the British home fleet leave the Mediterranean to facilitate peace negotiations.

ROME, Oct. 15.—UP—The government spokesman asserted tonight that press reports abroad that Premier Pierre Laval and Italian Ambassador Vittorio Cerutti are negotiating for solution of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute are "wholly foundationless."

LAVAL OPTIMISTIC

PARIS, Oct. 15.—UP—Premier Pierre Laval remained optimistic tonight despite the cool reception in London and Rome of his plan to Britain to withdraw its home fleet from the Mediterranean while Italy halted its advances in Ethiopia.

The French plan, revealed to the United Press by an official (Continued on page 8)

Daughter Of Mill Valley Man Slain By Chinese Reds

MILL VALLEY, Oct. 15.—UP—John Waddell, broken by the news of the slaying of his daughter, Mrs. Hsu Shih Chu, near Nanking today, said she went to China 12 years ago as a medical missionary appointed by the board of missions of the Presbyterian church.

Waddell himself is a former missionary. He said his daughter was attached to the Central University at Nanking where she met Dr. Hsu Shih Chu, an instructor, whom she married a year ago.

She was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, where she majored in medicine, her father said.

Navy Aviator Sets Record In Hop To Alameda

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—UP—Lieutenant Commander Kneffler McGinnis, crack United States naval flier, established a 4,043 mile long distance flight record today when he landed a new patrol seaplane at 2:23 P. M. PST, completing a non-stop hop from Panama.

Striking up the coast of Central America, Mexico and California, McGinnis completed the long flight in 31 hours 53 minutes. His average speed was approximately 128 miles an hour.

REDUCTION PLANTS ASK IN JUNCTION

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—T. F. DeLap and A. B. Tinning as attorneys for three fish reduction plants filed a suit with the Superior Court here today that will have a far-reaching effect in the State so far as the operation of such industries are concerned.

The complaint was filed and a temporary restraining order was issued against the members of the Fish and Game Commission of the State. The hearing for a permanent injunction will be heard next Monday.

The plaintiffs in the action are the Ozol Packing company, near Martinez, Point Edith Packing company at Port Chicago and the Edible Fish, Meats and Oils company of Richmond.

The defendants in the suit are Fish and Game Commissioners E. C. Moore, C. E. Houchin, J. Zellerbach, their executive officer Herbert C. Davis, superintendent of inspectors, George Smalley, Richmond, and John Johnson, enforcement officer.

The story in connection with the action is a test of the power of the State officials to come of the suit will be watched with a great deal of interest in every section of the State.

In the early part of this year the fish and game commissioners announced that any new reduction plants in the State would (Continued on page 8)

1936 Ford Is Given Preview At S. F. Hotel

Ford V-8 cars for 1936 were shown to dealers and salesmen at this area at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco yesterday and group meetings in 34 cities of the United States and Canada.

The new units will first be shown to the public next Saturday.

The San Francisco preview took place in the gold ballroom of the hotel, starting at 10 o'clock with introductions by J. J. Hague, assistant manager, the extending welcome by Manager C. A. Billwinkle of Richmond and the presentation of the Dearborn sound film. Several Richmond residents were special guests upon the invitation of Manager Billwinkle.

Luncheon was followed by a dealers and salesmen's meeting, a preview of the new models for sale and then for the dealers.

Body lines which strike a note in conservative streamlining, a new treatment of the interior and three important refinements in chassis engineering summarize the principal improvements in the 1936 car. There are no radical changes.

GEORGE IMBACH, Richmond city councilman and departmental vice commander of the bay area last night at a meeting held in the Memorial hall by the Honor Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Imbach Is Paid Honor By Vets At Meet Here

Veterans of Richmond and the bay area last evening paid honor to a Richmond city councilman who held the second highest office in the department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The honored guest at a meeting held at Memorial hall was George Imbach, senior vice commander of the department.

San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Emeryville, San Leandro, Martinez, Rodeo and other cities were represented by veteran delegations at the affair.

In addition there were members of the American Legion and the United Spanish War Veterans of Richmond who were special guests at the event.

J. T. McMoran was chairman of the evening, assisted by Sam Holmes and S. S. Ripley.

A program was presented during the evening, including songs by the Richmond Maennerchor, a bill-billy music by the McMoran Haywire Orchestra; songs by Mrs. E. White, accompanied by Miss Eldridge and vaudeville numbers.

At the conclusion of the program the honor guest, guests and members of the Post adjourned to the banquet room where a midnight supper was served.

Imbach was called upon and made a brief speech, in which he thanked the veterans for their cooperation and well wishes.

A short business meeting was held prior to the program with Clifford Hunt, commander, presiding.

Installation of officers will be held by the Post in November.

TROOPS SENT TO BATTLE REBEL ARMY

PLANE ARE SENT
NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 15.—UP—Airplanes were ordered tonight by General Juan Zetzel, military commander of Sonora, in an effort to cut down scattered parties of Mexican and Indian rebels spreading terror throughout this border state.

Detachments of rebel forces, on a sporadic but well-coordinated attacks on widely separated settlements, were believed returning to mountain headquarters to prepare for another series of swift thrusts similar to those that threw this border town in panic last night.

Responsibility In Accident Is Moot Question

Whether the city of Richmond or the school district is responsible for injuries suffered by school children playing on city playgrounds, adjacent to school playgrounds, was the question studied by the city and school board at a meeting yesterday noon at the Lincoln school.

Several weeks ago a student at the Natomas school during her recess hour, went to the city playground adjoining the school playgrounds and fell, injuring herself severely.

The board is now faced with the question as to whether it is responsible for the injuries, as the accident happened during school hours, or whether the city is responsible as the accident happened on the city playground.

No decision was reached by the board in the matter.

J. O. Ford presided over the session of the board.

Wife Asserts Hubby Was Close

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Alleging that her husband scolded her, called her names and struck her, Mrs. Angeline Codero of Richmond today filed suit for divorce in superior court here against Robert Codero through Attorney Leo G. Marcollo of Richmond.

The couple married November 29, 1932 and separated July 14, 1935.

Mrs. Codero charges her husband forced her to keep a book record of every cent she spent and alleged on one occasion she failed to enter a 5-cent expenditure and Codero accused her of spending the money for something for herself. She also said that each week he checked the book and on several occasions accused her of making false entries and spending the money on herself.

The plaintiff asks custody of a two-year-old daughter, $25 month for the child's support and asks to be allowed to resume her maiden name of Angeline Palombo.

Witness

RUTH CREIGHTON, 15-year old Baldwin, L. I. girl, who was held as a witness against Everett C. Applegate, charged with criminal assault on her, while her mother, Mrs. Mary Creighton, was said to have confessed to poisoning Applegate's wife.

Grade Crossing Accident Case Is Being Tried

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Upon selection of a jury this morning, trial was under way in Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnson's court today in the $70,673.98 damage suit filed by Joseph Bruno and Mary Bruno against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, L. Beckman, K. A. Roberts and F. T. Stoddard.

The plaintiffs charge that on June 20, 1933, they were passengers in a car driven by Bruno when the machine was struck by a train at a railroad crossing on Fink Lane, El Centro.

It is charged by Bruno that he suffered a neck fracture, broken right leg, and injury to his hand muscles which make it impossible for him to close the hand.

Bruno suffered three broken ribs, a laceration to her flesh and hurt her ankle, the suit charges.

Damages of $36,000.43 are asked by Bruno while $3,600.43 is sought on behalf of Mrs. Bruno.

Attorneys H. A. Lockwood and L. A. Sievert of Los Angeles represent the Bruno, while Augustine Donovan of San Francisco and Maurice Roach of Oakland are attorneys for the railroad company.

Driver Escapes In Train-Auto Crash

W. E. Cottle, of San Pablo, escaped death or serious injuries yesterday morning when his car crashed into the side of a Santa Fe railroad engine at the Garfield boulevard crossing.

Cottle told police he did not see the engine or hear the warning signals. He was not injured but his car was almost completely wrecked.

SERVING TIME

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Sentenced by Police Judge C. A. O'Dell of Richmond to serve a 30 days term on a drunkenness charge, Victor Vannoni, 40, of North Richmond, was in the county jail here today. He was brought here by Constable J. W. Smiley of Richmond.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD TURNS DOWN CLAIM

A claim for $10,000 damages was presented to the Richmond Union high school board yesterday by Walter Blades, of San Pablo, father of Anita Blades, 12-year old Longfellow junior high school student.

Blades, through his attorney, Harold Savallisch, asks the sum for injuries sustained by his daughter who fell from a school bus last week and sustained a fractured collar bone.

CLAIM REJECTED
The board, by a unanimous vote, rejected the claim and turned the matter over to its insurance company.

Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms told the board yesterday that he had made a personal investigation of the accident and that another separate investigation was made by Captain George Belon of the State Highway Patrol.

According to investigators, he said, Miss Blades and a companion got on the school bus near the Lighthouse Inn and the bus driver permitted them to remain standing in the front of the bus. In some manner one of the girls loosened the catch on the door and the Blades' girl fell out of the slowly moving bus. She was taken to the Richmond Cottage hospital for treatment of a fractured collar bone.

Blades charged that the school board was responsible for the accident through "carelessness and (Continued on page 8)

Move Is Made To Disqualify Lamson Jurors

SAN JOSE, Oct. 15.—UP—An immediate defense move to disqualify 50 to 200 Santa Clara county citizens named on a list of prospective jurors for the third David A. Lamson trial on charges of murdering his wife, Allene, was in prospect today, when it was revealed that the 50 had been listed on ventures for the first and second trials.

Three of the names, Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer, R. E. Graham and Mrs. Catherine, are those of jurors who convicted Lamson at his first trial.

The third trial is scheduled to start October 28.

Hauptmann Is Granted Delay

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 15.—UP—The Court of Errors and Appeals late today granted Bruno Hauptmann a 30-day stay to appeal his death sentence conviction for murder of the Lindbergh baby to the United States Supreme Court.

It was considered doubtful, however, that the Supreme Court would permit the case to be appealed to the highest tribunal in the land. A member of the court first must be convinced that Hauptmann's constitutional rights were infringed before the Supreme Court will accept jurisdiction.

Three Wins In Four Starts Is Notable Record

THIRDS WIN.—Shorts Naturally, Happy Laddie's victory over a special match field last night at El Cerrito dog track takes the headlines, but a dog by name of Major Jamestown, trained by Patrick, should receive honorable mention today because of his astonishing successes.

Happy Laddie coasted in over Tootsie Lee and Trojan's Pal in the first race, much as expected, retaining his track championship in 2-1-5 seconds, only one-fifth of a second off the track five-sixteenth mile championship.

But Major Jamestown is really the dog to consider. Henry L. Lee's victory is because he can best the local dogs. Major Jamestown in four starts has won three straight, finishing second on his first start at El Cerrito. The time of Major Jamestown's victory was 32-2-5 seconds, exactly one-fifth off the winning time turned in by Happy Laddie last night.

The crowd was keen over Happy Laddie's race, giving the triple options to a 1-2-3 fare-the-well.

field, for the remainder of Mushy Pollock, fleet sprint star, and George Cornell, triple threat halfback returned to the University of California squad today after two weeks' absence because of injuries. Although neither is expected to be used against Santa Clara, due to uncertainty as to condition of their injuries, they swelled the roster of available halfback backs to five. Don Fowler, Floyd Blower and Bill
Archer are the top-choice candidates for the call at left halfback against the Broncos.

BRONCOS READY

SANTA CLARA, Oct. 15.—UP—
The Santa Clara Broncos, equipped with traditional "confidence" psychology for their annual California game, and replete with halfback, passers and punters which they believe will match the Bears, were worried today about one important matter—reserves.
Lack of reinforcements for his squad loomed a big problem for Clippie Smith, who today had ten first and second stringers with injuries of varying seriousness which might keep them from action against the Bears Saturday.

BEARS JITTERY
BRONCOS

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—Spring in the director's seat in Northern California football is a jittery business, as the Golden Bears of California can testify.

The old Bear hasn't been "top them" for so long that the sensation of being the only undefeated and unscored on team in this week of the words is not only unfamiliar,
it's thrilling.

The Bears are readying themselves for the week for the Santa Clara Broncos, a team that has been their nemesis for the past three seasons.
While the game has no bearing on the conference race, in which the Bears made their first start last week with a 6-0 win over Oregon, they're still counting from a 29 to 0 lull-back, actual record all on this time last year by the Broncos.
Stanford and St. Mary's are up this week and the University of San Francisco travels to Spokane, so the full share of the football spot light will shine on the Bear-Bronco tiff, which is the 11th between the rivals since 1922.

After Bear teams had won ten straight games up to 1931, Santa Clara scored the victory hammer in 1932, and has held it ever since, shutting out California in three straight games, 12 to 0, 7 to 0 and 20 to 0. There isn't a footballer on the present Blue and Gold squad that knows what it's like to win
from the Broncos.

While California's spotless goal line and victories over St. Mary's and Oregon are factors which will probably cause the Bears to be installed as favorites here Saturday, Coach L. B. "Snub" Allison and his trustworthy assistants are looking for another "touch one" which may very conceivably send Bear stock down to a new 1935 low with a jarring third Saturday night.

"We could use a 'breather' right about now very nicely," Allison declared today. "This is the time when we should be getting our greatest development, and a nice, soft game would permit us a couple of weeks in which to time up our plays and do a hundred other things which the way things are, we have to do in odd moments while we're preparing for the next red battle."

he can show me in any detail whereby the system is obsolete. I do not intend to let his criticism hinder me in my efforts to turn out a good football team."

DESIGNATION DENIED

MORAGA, Oct. 15.—UP—Coach
Fawcett "Slip" Madigan denied again today that he intends to resign from his position as head mentor at St. Mary's at the end of the current season. Rumors hinting that friction had developed between Madigan and college authorities over financial matters emanating from Los Angeles were termed by Slip as "ridiculous."

DONS ARE GUNNING

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—
University of San Francisco students were gunning for Gonzaga in earnest today as they went through a strenuous drill
under the supervision of Coach Synd Lewis. The game will be played Saturday at Spokane.

Jones Answers
Grid Criticism

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—UP—Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California tonight declared he would overlook the "blistering broadside" against his football methods issued by Charles Paddock, one-time Trojan sprinter.

"Inasmuch as Paddock never played football," Jones said, "I am willing to overlook his criticism."

"If Charlie Paddock thinks he knows a lot about football, I will be glad to receive any constructive criticism from him. But until

What The Scoreboard Said

CHUCK CHESHIRE, 33. U. C. L. A. back, starting off on the first leg of the Bruins' touchdown that beat Stanford. Cheshire dashed from his 29 yard line to Stanford's 6. From there his teammate, Ted Key, went over for a touchdown. Key then kicked that all-important extra point that spelled defeat for Stanford.

PAROLE RACKET
IS UNCOVERED
WITH ARREST

MODESTO, Oct. 15.—UP—A new
"quick parole" racket was believed uncovered here tonight with the arrest of Louis B. Morse, 25, assen-sory former convict and forger.

Morse was taken into custody on suspicion of taking a 16-year-old schoolgirl with him on a trip to Oakland. Among papers in his possession, authorities said, were forgers of state lettershead from the governor's office, a state seal and several letters to relatives of convicts soliciting a retainer fee for a "quick parole" of men in state prisons.

Sheriff Graef M. Hogan, however, was checking expenditures by Morse of $12,000 during the last two weeks in the belief Morse may be an "advance man" for a confidence ruse.

Morse's purchases, Sheriff Hogan said, included a automobile and a secluded residence. It was believed the roadhouse was chosen

MUCH DAMAGE TO CROPS IN RAIN STORMS

By UNITED PRESS

Clearing weather, interspersed with sporadic, light, local showers Tuesday brought at least temporary cheer to storm-harassed farmers along the Pacific Coast. Washington and Oregon were the only areas destined for continued unsettled weather, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau, which prophesied clear skies late Tuesday and Wednesday for other far Western areas.

One death was reported as result of a severe electrical storm which lashed central California early Tuesday. Pete Mulas, 35, sheepherder, was killed when lightning struck near Robbins, in Shutter county.

More than $500,000 damage to grapes, drying raisins, tomatoes, rice and field crops in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys was reported from localities where harvest work is in full swing.

Heaviest rainfall was recorded in northern regions of Sacramento valley, centering around Red Bluff and Redding, where virtual cloudbursts were reported.

While rising temperatures were forecast for most lowland regions, frosts and freezing temperatures were predicted in the Sierra Nevada, Idaho, Nevada and eastern portions of Oregon and Washington.

Six inches of snow fell in the vicinity of Mineral near Lassen national park. Communication lines were severed between the park and Reno, and between numerous valley points.

SHERIFF TALKS TO EL CERRITO LIONS

One of the bright spots of the year for the local Lions Club was Monday evening's dinner when Sheriff John A. Miller was the guest of honor and principal speaker.

Miller declared that he should have been elected sheriff in years ago when sheriffs were elected for being expert shots which the present sheriff is, but now, he says they are elected for being expert speech makers, a line for which he claims he has been awarded no medals. However, even that handicap must have been overcome by this time, for certainly the El Cerrito Lions would not withhold a trophy for hitting the bull's eye with a speech after hearing Mr. Miller's happy performance in that line Monday evening.

A trio of musicians from station KFSO rendered a few enjoyable numbers, and the chair announced the meeting as the 57th consecutive one with a perfect attendance, which sets an international record.

HOPES FADING FOR MAN LOST IN PARK AREA

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15.—UP.—Searching parties, equipped with flashlights, continued today in the search for a man who disappeared last night after he had been hit by a car in a park area.

Reports from various officers, delayed through disruption of telephone communication, said the car had stalled, and searching parties organized by park rangers had established camps in the district late today. They carried provisions on to park horses.

Rangers were to continue the hunt today and tomorrow, and hoped if the man were still alive he would see one of the camp fires.

One search party had a lead, where he had apparently left it on the road in a back-country location.

Crack bank, rather of the type known as "crack bank," ranking a woman ten miles away, failed to show up last night at McQueen Lake Lodge.

Friends and he had no food with him.

Rangers reported 15 inches of snow covered slopes of Mt. Las Animas with additional snowfall expected tonight.

THEATER MAN'S DEATH IS SAID TO BE SUICIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP.—At first believed to be a murder victim, W. C. Morgan, 39, Watsonville theater janitor, was tonight regarded by police as a probable suicide.

Mrs. W. W. Wells has just returned from a six-weeks trip to Southern California where she went to visit a sister in law who was seriously ill. She reports the condition of her relative as unimproved and she may return to her bedside.

In his lap was found a slip of paper bearing two San Francisco addresses and one in San Jose. A check revealed he had left one of the San Francisco addresses almost a year ago.

He was formerly employed on one of the bay bridges.

Dispatches from Watsonville said Morgan disappeared Sunday, saying he was going to San Jose to see relatives of his wife, who went to live with a sister in San Francisco after Morgan moved to Watsonville.

J. D. Graham, manager of the theater where Morgan was employed, reported his behavior had been strange Saturday and that he was apparently brooding over his estrangement from his wife.

A daughter also is believed to live here.

JURORS NAME BUTCHER BOY AS MURDERER

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15.—UP.—Jury at Salt Lake City today named George L. Rutledge as the man who took the lives of three persons and injured two others during a night of horror at Bonanza, village north of here, on Sunday.

Boyer, who revealed his true name during police grilling last night, was charged with the murder of a woman and a boy, and the injury of a man.

The former San Diego, Calif., butcher, was not permitted to attend the inquest in the Bonanza village hall following heated threats of lynching by aroused townsmen.

UNDER GUARD

Since his arrest Sunday night, Boyer has been closely guarded in the Salt Lake jail for four nights. He is being guarded by four men, and he will never come to trial.

Rutledge, as he is called in official proceedings, was named by the coroner's jury as the man who shot a 11-caliber revolver Sunday to kill Mrs. Blanche Nelson, 48, widow of a man who had two children and Mrs. J. Loren East, parents of two children.

Red Cross Wars on Carelessness

In Home or While at Work on Farm

THE American Red Cross is throwing the weight of its entire organization behind a continuing campaign to combat the negligence and lack of knowledge in the home and on the farm which last year claimed nearly 40,000 lives and injured millions.

According to safety experts most accidents can be prevented. Every Red Cross Chapter and Branch will play a part in this large-scale humanitarian operation, and have mobilized to meet the challenge.

Admission to the Red Cross Chapter, according to the Red Cross, is open to all who are interested in the work of the Red Cross.

Through an intensive educational program, the Red Cross will seek to explode the fallacy that the home is safe. Common and unobvious hazards will be pointed out; individual families will be shown how these hazards may be eliminated and instruction will be given in the avoidance of unsafe habits and a plan apt to cause accidents.

Preparations have been made to inspect more than 3,000,000 homes in the inspection to be conducted by home dwellers themselves. Through the cooperation of church and school groups, the school child will take a specially prepared inspection form into the home and survey it for hazards with the help of parent or relative.

Accidents in the homes of America kill more than 20 persons an hour each day and a medical, nursing and insurance bill exceeding $500 per minute. Farm work accidents last year took more than 4,000 lives and maimed many permanently.

Accident prevention is a natural outgrowth of Red Cross instruction. In fact, a service initiated 25 years ago and responsible annually for saving many lives and preventing minor accidents from having major consequences.

THE COMMON COLD

October is the peak month for colds, it is said, and the greatest number of colds will occur during this month. Certainly, the common cold is a general nuisance and more people stay home from work with colds than with any other disorder.

I have studied many thousands of patients suffering from colds, and it seems to me that there are only three fundamental causes. These fundamental causes are: FATIGUE, OVER-EATING and LACK OF SUNSHINE. In many parts of the world, the amount of available sunshine is sharply decreased during the fall and winter months. In the cities the amount reaching the population may be even less than this, because of the thick curtain of smoke overlying the industrial districts.

Fall and winter colds usually can be blamed on the use of a diet containing an abundance of the heavy foods. As the cold weather comes on, practically everyone develops an appetite for the heavy, starchy foods, and these almost invariably form the principal part of every meal. This desire for the richer foods is made worse because most of the protective foods such as fruits and vegetables are hard to obtain during the fall and winter months, or else are so expensive that the buyer for the family does not feel that she can afford them.

The body becomes so stuffed with the excess of starchy foods that it attempts to throw out some of the toxic wastes by producing copious secretion from the mucous membrane, causing it to be inflamed. These who become fatigued from working too long hours or from having enough nervous energy left to keep metabolism balanced. He should consider himself fortunate if he develops only a cold, rather than some more serious disorder.

During the cooler months of fall and winter, most people gradually get out of the habit of spending much time out of doors, preferring to stay within heated rooms where the air is not pure and where sunlight does not come.

If you wish to guard against colds, then you should see to it that your diet contains a large amount of vegetables and fruits. Also it is a good plan to cut down on the starches used, while taking a moderate amount of protein daily, such as meat and eggs. It is also important that you guard yourself against becoming overtired. Going to bed early is one of the best ways to prevent the development of colds. Make sure that you obtain plenty of outdoor exercise and avoid the physical and mental inertia which precedes the common cold.

If you do develop a cold, go to bed if you have a fever. Try to get a grapefruit juice infusion which is prepared by the following method: Cut a medium-sized grapefruit into small pieces, skin and all. Place in an enameled pan or glass dish and pour over it one quart of boiling hot water. Allow to stand for at least 30 minutes. The juice from this may be taken during a fast and is particularly beneficial in the treatment of colds. During the time that you are using the grapefruit infusion, be sure to take at least one vitamin each day.

If you wish a special article on Cold, send for the one called WHEN YOU CATCH A COLD. This will be forwarded to anyone desiring a copy. Send your request to me in care of this new paper and enclose one large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Low Blood Pressure)

Question: Mrs. B. H. O. inquires: "I badly advise me with a really in your Question and Answer column as to what is causing my trouble with my head. My doctor tells me the low blood pressure is the cause. I have such noises in my head that they keep me from sleeping and I have to get up and walk the floor at night. I used to have the head noises occasionally but now the noise is continuous day and night. I am also undernourished."

Answer: The most important fact discerned in your letter is the extremely low blood pressure. A lowering of the blood pressure might be the cause of the head noises. This is a very serious condition and must be taken care of at once. The low blood pressure is not a disease but a symptom of a disease. Very often head noises are noticed occasionally at first but later become persistent and continuous as has occurred in your case. Low blood pressure is commonly associated with weakness, dizziness, and an undernourished state. It is likely only a symptom and indicates an interference with digestion or assimilation.

(Injection Treatment for Hernia)

Question: Mr. Ed. W. writes: "After having become ruptured on the right side, I secure a same injection treatment for hernia and now seem to be all right. Will you tell me if I can expect the success from this treatment to be permanent in my case?"

Answer: The injection method of treatment for hernia or rupture has secured success in many cases and I see every reason to believe that you will find the good results obtained to be permanent. One of the advantages of the injection method is that it can be used in selected cases while the patient continues his ordinary work.

The DAILY WASHINGTON
MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. One of the most amazing contrasts in history is the present action of the League of Nations in backing Ethiopia, as compared with its attitude last winter.

At that time the first Italian move across the Ethiopian border had caused Emperor Haile Selassie to submit the dispute to Geneva.

British advisers, on the border during the dispute, had submitted a report severely condemning Italian.

Nevertheless, Captain Anthony Eden at Geneva threw his weight with Mussolini. Not wishing a showdown before the League, he acted as intermediary between the two disputants and then told Ethiopia it should accept the Italian demands for an apology and indemnity.

The demand was refused by Teclahawari, Ethiopian delegate, who then threatened to carry his case on to the Council.

"But you cannot," interposed Captain Eden. "It is provided that no dispute can be submitted to the Council when direct negotiations are in progress."

"But they have broken down."

"That is a statement by you which I will not admit before this Council," retorted Eden, belling his pipe.

TIMID COUNCIL

Hawaride then made a personal appeal to the Council. Benes of Czechoslovakia, famous champion of the League of Nations, expressed himself on the ground that "larger European considerations" were involved.

All of the others gave negative answers. The Argentine, Chilean and Mexican delegates replied that they were too busy trying to settle their own war in the Chaco. Senator Madariaga of Spain replied that his Government had instructed him to quit fighting. Lost causes.

Even Maxine Elvinoff, consistent champion of small nations, turned down Hawaride.

Not one member of the League Council was willing to vote against Italy.

ABOUT-FACE

Obviously the two most important reasons for the League's about-face were the stiffening of British and the high-handed militancy of Mussolini. Of the two, the attitude of the British probably counted most.

Now a new behind-the-scenes factor has just been reported in confidential cables received here. In the middle of last summer the British military intelligence made some startling discoveries in Egypt.

There, a group of over-enthusiastic Fascists had bribed a man to infiltrate the Egyptian Government from the British. They had actually won over two or three members of the Egyptian Cabinet.

A friendly Egypt is considered essential to the safety of Suez and the British "life line" to the Orient.

The discovery was followed at once immediately by the concentration of the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

UNCLE SAM, CHISELER
An active chiseler on wage and hour standards since the demise of the NRA codes has been none other than the United States Government itself.

This embarrassing revelation was hurled at Secretary Frances Perkins and several of her henchmen at the national conference of state labor officials at Asheville, N. C.

The meeting was for the purpose of discussing measures for developing uniform laws on wages and hours throughout the country. But the state authorities bluntly informed Miss Perkins that it was futile to talk about standardizing laws as long as the Federal Government made it difficult for them to enforce the laws already on their state statute books.

One example thrown to Miss Perkins follows:

New Hampshire has a law fixing minimum wages and maximum hours, thus causing higher costs to New Hampshire laundries.

The CCC camps in the state have a sizeable laundry job that is let by contract under competitive bidding. But New Hampshire laundries were underbid by minimum wages and maximum hours. The Maine laundries could afford to transport the CCC camp washing 80 miles back and forth and still do it for less than in New Hampshire.

As a result, New Hampshire laundries are demanding the repeal of the hard-won wage and hour acts.

NOTE: Reason for the Government's failure to protect New Hampshire's labor laws is a ruling by Comptroller General McCall, requiring strict acceptance of lowest bids.

NOT WANTED

Secretary to Supreme Court Justice Cardozo is William Stroock, son of the chairman of the New York Bar Association's Character Committee; also an honor graduate of Harvard and of Yale Law School.

At the close of the court's term last spring, Cardozo asked his young aide to continue another year. Stroock agreed, and in preparation for the winter, leased a modest suburban home.

Just before the court reconvened last week Stroock and his wife prepared to move in. But the real estate agency informed him that the house, regardless of the lease, was not available.

"We are terribly sorry, Mr. Stroock," the agent explained. "But in this development, all building contracts contain an anti-Semitic clause. At the time the house was leased to you we did not know you were of Jewish blood."

"The question of my racial antecedents was not raised," said Stroock. "No, that's right, they were not. But in view of this clause we can't let you have the house."

Stroock reported the matter to Justice Cardozo.

"In my opinion a contract with a clause of that nature is not valid," said the justice. "If you were not my secretary I would urge you to fight it."

However, Stroock and his wife found other living quarters.

TOOK OFF 17 LBS. OF UGLY FAT

HEEDED DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Mrs. Robert Hickey, Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Get a jar of Kruschen to-day (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Simply take half teaspoonful in cup of hot water every morning. All druggists.

Those Who Lose Sleep Become Weak and Shaky; Can Not Concentrate

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

SLEEP is as necessary for life as is food. No one can lose sleep continuously and at the same time keep well. When we are tired in body and mind nothing is more satisfactory and refreshing than sleep. Indeed, nothing will take its place. During sound sleep we are totally unconscious. The whole body, mind, and nervous system are in a state of relaxation and rest. The muscles let go, the heart beats more slowly, the breathing becomes slower and steadier.

DR. CHRISMAN

The organs of sense are at rest, the eyes closed, and the muscles that dilate and contract the eye pupil relax. The special senses, all rest, the ears do not hear, the sense of smell and feeling are dulled. The circulation becomes slower, the blood pressure lower, the kidneys function less.

Digestion slows up, the brain ceases to function and the entire nervous system is dulled to all sensitiveness. In other words, the entire system is at rest, allowing each organ and function to recuperate from the day's work.

The time to sleep is at night. All nature progresses at a lower pace during the hours of darkness. People vary greatly in their amount of food, exercise, capacity for work, but the actual requirements for sleep are fairly uniform.

Amount of Sleep Needed

Few persons can maintain a healthy active life without at least seven or eight hours sleep, and many—particularly those doing hard physical and mental labor—require eight or nine hours. Children and older people need still more sleep; children because of their great activity and rapid growth and elderly people in order to rest from the day's strain.

A recent investigation made by Laird, and reported in American Medicine, concerned the sleeping habits of 500 men of prominence in world affairs, and found that they averaged eight hours sleep. Also that 70 per cent of them had difficulty in obtaining enough restful sleep.

Loss of sleep does many things and has some very definite results both on the body and the mind. The person who loses much sleep finds his usual energy depleted and shows a tendency to become weak and shaky.

He lacks vigor and vitality. His mind becomes less active, while he grows drowsy and cannot think in a straight line. His physical and mental activity become sluggish. Perhaps he is irritable and loses his temper readily. He may annoy him; his will power is lessened and he cannot think or act constructively.

If he is of a despondent disposition his whole mind may become set on his troubles and in this mood many commit suicide, as they say "to get a little sleep."

Children Need Sleep

In infancy and childhood sleep is more important than any other time of life. Good sleeping habits should be cultivated from the time of birth and persisted in. It is possible that if children were taught good sleeping habits, there would not be so much insomnia in later life. It is the opinion of many physicians that a baby should sleep 20 out of each 24 hours. This requires a careful sleep program and his sleeping time should be regulated by the clock.

Noises do not disturb most healthy children, though some highly nervous children are awakened by sounds, but our effort should be to teach them to sleep during all usual noises. As we grow older the same regularity in sleeping time will help prevent sleeplessness. Many things enter into the problem of insomnia; overeating, especially at night, worry about any thing, particularly about whether we will go to sleep.

Any ache or pain, intestinal gas, indigestion, a dry itching skin all grow worse after we retire and have time to think about them.

Our present custom of eating the heavy meal at night is not always good. Eating our average fruit, a slice of toast a baked potato, some green vegetables or a glass of milk at 6 P.M. would aid our sleeping.

Short Cuts

When choosing beans at the market, remember to test them for freshness. Fresh pods snap when broken. Also fresh pods, whether of green or wax beans, are slender and smooth. If they bulge, the beans are likely to be tough, bulging here as in so many other things, denoting maturity.

In thinking of duck, we visualize roast duck. But that is how it is generally prepared. But it is equally delicious broiled under the oven flames as we are accustomed to fix chicken, so-called broilers. Try it and see.

Reaches for the Moon And Gets It

By TALBOT LAKE

IT DOESN'T often happen that a curator of astronomy bursts into the prints, but Dr. Clyde Fisher, who holds the position with the American Museum of Natural History, New York, has come in for great praise and notice because of the remarkable way he prepared the museum's new Hayden Planetarium recently opened.

Dr. Fisher is one of the few who can teach for the moon and get it. He also grabs a lot of stars. When he has enough of the celestial bodies he places them in a far-fetched imagination within the dome of the planetarium so that they revolve and like the big universe does. The planetarium is the job is to make the whole show at least part was understandable to the layman who can't pick out anything more than the Big Dipper and who thinks the world is coming to an end when he sees Northern Lights. Dr. Fisher acts as liaison man between such astronomical discourse and the rest of us.

The good doctor began early with his curiosity. On the old farm of Sidney, Ohio, his father thought there was something not quite right about his boy who was forever gazing at the sky or examining stones. He also had a penchant for gathering bugs and looking them over.

At seventeen Fisher became a country school teacher, and then went on to higher study. He obtained his doctor's degree at Johns Hopkins. He came with the museum in 1911, and ever since has been scouring the earth and the sky. The opening of the planetarium has been, naturally enough, his happy occasion.

Dr. Fisher's home life has held unusual interest, too. About two years ago he was married to Te Ata, a Chickasaw Indian girl who had been lecturing at the museum on Indian lore. Athletic and fond of the outdoors, she went with her new husband on a 12,000-mile honeymoon camping trip. They were adopted by the Sioux tribe when he became "Afraid-of-Bear" and she "Bearer-of-Light."

Guide to Charm

Good Brushes Are First Aid In Beautifying

By JACQUELINE HUNT

DO YOU have a "special beauty problem"? Do you have difficulty in getting your powder applied evenly and smoothly? Are your eyelashes and eyebrows scanty, lusterless, and scant? Are your elbows and ankles rough and dark in color? Are there blackheads and blemishes?

Often all you need is the right kind of a brush to help you solve your problem.

Many girls who are otherwise skilled in using their decorative cosmetics, have difficulty when it comes to powder. The powder may go on unevenly and cake a little while after it has been applied or it may give the face an obviously powdered look no matter how skilfully it is used. You may blame your powder, but in many cases it is your method of application.

After you have applied your make-up foundation, skin cream and blended your rouge into the proper areas take a clean powder puff or piece of cotton and dust your powder on liberally. You may look like you have been dipped in a four barrel—but leave it on for five minutes or so while you turn your attention to something else.

Then take one of the soft little "blending brushes" and dust off all of the excess powder. Just enough will adhere to your skin to give it a velvety-soft, natural finish and it will be so evenly distributed that it will remain for hours without a spoty appearance. These little blending brushes are usually of soft hair, and could not possibly irritate the most sensitive skin.

You need two tiny brushes for your face or tube of make-up, one for applying the color to your cheeks, the other for brushing the lashes afterward to separate any that might cling together and to remove any excess color. In addition, if you want to keep your lashes and brows healthy and silky, you need a slightly larger brush for cleansing and exercising the little hairs before you go to bed at night and for applying warm oil or a special lash grower.

The newcomers among the brushes are for the feet. These something like military brushes with a strap across the back for your hand to slip through. The bristles are stiff enough to give your feet a rouging massage and to remove rough, scaly spots and callouses on ankles and heels.

If your elbows are rough and dark, scrub them daily with soap and water and a fairly stiff hand brush. A hand brush for applying your keep your cuticles in place and your fingertips spotless. Although you may prefer a convenient nail brush in your color for the latter purpose.

Oh dear, our space has been used up and still there are some pretty and useful brushes that we haven't mentioned. I'll tell you about them and about how to take care of all your brushes to get the most out of them in tomorrow's column.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have a nicely-shaped mouth, but it is very small. Can I use my lipstick to make it look larger?"—Marianne.

Any attempt to make your mouth look larger by extending the lips with lipstick is apt to give a harsh, artificial effect. You can carry your lip color all the way to the corners of your mouth, however, and color all the way to the outer line of your lips. Use a shade that is vivid and youthful, neither too yellowish or too bluish. Since your mouth is small try to concentrate your attention on your eyes, making them up skilfully and letting them dominate your face.

QUESTION: "I am fifty and have managed to keep a clear soft skin most of the time. Lately, however, my skin has become scaly, and there are tiny lines around my mouth and eyes. Can you tell me what cosmetics I should use?"—Mrs. Forbes.

Get a good, bland toilet soap for cleansing and a cold cream or nourishing cream for softening the little lines and preventing scaling. Massage ten minutes daily after you have cleansed your skin thoroughly and then use tissues and a skin freshener to remove every trace of the cream that remains on your skin. Occasionally use warm oil or rich cream on your skin overnight. You will find that a foundation cream or a small amount of cold cream set with cold water will protect your skin and keep your make-up on for a greater length of time.

The Metallic Vogue

This formal gown of silver metallic cloth is worn by Gail Patrick of the screen. It features a square-cut bodice and butterfly shoulders.

High Neckline Possible For All Feminine Types

By IRENE VAIL

New York.—One has to get used to the new clothes before they really seem to click. They have a decidedly different look and need a bit of trying on before one makes any snapshot decisions.

The changes in neck and shoulder make the greatest difference. So many women shy at the high-cut bodice and will have none of the collar idea. It's silly, really, to be prejudiced against them. Women did wear collars for years and have acquired a reputation for good looks and good style. There are many ways of treating the high line and one of them is sure to be possible for you.

After all nobody wants to see the same idea paraded, no matter how partial to said same old ideas they may be. Extraordinary models are being displayed just now, puffed hats, tight velvet pants, under-draped evening gowns, and all the rest of it, but they are not musts—just novelties of considerable interest and much delight.

Take sheers for winter—take them or leave them, we mean. They represent a rather new idea. Not that we have not worn chiffons in snowdrifts before, but it has been the vogue lately to wear sturdy materials. Therefore diaphanous ones or even semi-sheers are a change.

In considering the various fabrics that are presented for the winter it seems there has never been such a wealth of fabrics. One cannot lose sight of the attention given jersey. It is introduced not only in dresses that have a sporty quality, but also in dresses that have a more formal daytime appeal, the same sort of dresses one sees done in matelasse crepes, for example.

But to return to the discussion of sheers for winter wear. If I had three guesses at the reason for launching them at this time the first would be the correct answer. It's because sheers drape well and drapery is the latest movement.

Mr. Columbus Inspires Some Tasty Dishes

By JUDITH WILSON

IN fourteen hundred and ninety-two, Columbus sailed the ocean blue" and on October 12th, first sighted this land of the free. As a result Mr. Columbus has a holiday named for him and his picture in all history books.

Homemakers should turn amateur Columbuses for the day and make some new discoveries for themselves. Among the things you might discover are how good some of the dishes of this gentleman's native land can be. Columbus was born in Italy, married in Portugal and sailed under Spanish colors to discover America, so you can do him honor by serving a dish from each country if you want to.

When you make these "foreign" dishes notice how good pimientos and olives can be and how pungent garlic makes dishes. Christopher liked garlic, so try rubbing a bit in your salad bowl before you mix your salad and always rub your lamb roast with it before putting into the oven.

Risotto Alla Piemontese

Saute 1 chopped onion in 3 ounces butter and when light brown add 1 cup washed rice. Cook, stirring occasionally for 5 minutes, then add 1 cup chicken broth. Allow the rice to cook slowly 25 minutes, stirring frequently. Now add 3 more ounces butter, grated parmesan cheese, 1 can white truffles (or mushrooms) with their liquid, allowing to cook until the cheese is melted and the truffles are cooked. This makes a satisfying one-dish meal. Sometimes sauteed chicken livers are added.

Bisque Alla Creme

Put 2 cups water, 6 ounces butter and 1 ounce sugar into a saucepan and let come to a boil. Add 7 ounces sifted flour and a pinch of salt and cook about 3 minutes. The batter should be very thick and smooth. Let cool for 10 minutes, then add 3 eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Pour into a pastry bag and squeeze it into rings on buttered white paper. Fry these doughnut-shaped rings in hot fat, drain thoroughly and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Serve with a wine-flavored boiled custard in the holes in the center.

Arroz Con Pollo

Saute a tender young chicken in 3/4 cup hot olive oil in a casserole until lightly browned. Add a clove of garlic chopped, 2 onions and 1 green pepper, chopped, and let cook 2 minutes longer. Add 4 tomatoes cut into small dice, cook 3 minutes, then add cayenne pepper to season, 1 1/2 cups washed rice, 3 cups chicken broth and a few grains of saffron. Cover and bake in a moderate oven until the rice is tender—about half an hour. Garnish with freshly cooked, buttered green peas, thin slices of red pepper and finely chopped parsley.

MODERN WOMEN

Girls Who Set Their Caps for Other Woman's Husband Are Courting Misery

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

UNTIL women overcome the habit of thinking of themselves as great exceptions and immune from consequences they will, I suppose, continue to have their little or big affairs with other women's husbands and be surprised when it's time for the pay-off. And it always comes sooner or later.

Variations of "An American Tragedy" are enacted again and again. It would seem incredible were it not a fact that so-called nice girls have driven husbands to murder their wives. Yet with the knowledge that they may exert such a power over weak men, women continue to play about with married men, fortified, in their own minds, by the absurd contention that they are different, they are the great exception.

There may be girls who have entered no outside relations with married men and gotten away with it, but they are so few that most serve as the exception rather than the rule. Not that all husbands murder their wives, but they do indict on them untold misery when the affair comes to light, as affairs in the dark usually do.

There are women who seem to be entirely without conscience when it comes to other women's husbands. I have known many such, women who would rant and rage if their husbands were found to be indulging in the mildest form of flirtation. Women are like that. They criticize others for doing just as they do, but resent furiously any criticism of their own acts.

Even in these days of great personal liberty a woman cannot be seen very often in the company of a married man without eyebrows reaching a new high. The woman herself, knowing her own heart as no one else can, may believe herself in the right. Knowing that she has nothing but the friendliest feeling for the man and realizing he has no deeper feeling for her, she registers surprise and resentment at these elevated brows, forgetting appearances are again a factor, and unfortunately most of us judge by appearances.

That there can be sincere friendships between men and women, I for one would hate to disbelieve. When such a friendship does exist marriage makes no difference whatever. Old friendships formed before marriage have a recognized standing. Friendships formed after marriage usually include both husband and wife. The old friends of each valiantly strive to extend their interest to the husband or wife.

It's a travesty on the name of friendship to call the casual combinations that married men form with women other than mere friendship. A man who has a sincere liking for another woman usually finds ways to present her to his wife and include her in his social circle. If he shows no such disposition, the woman in the case should immediately be forewarned and stand ready to pay the price, which may be either putting him out of her life, or taking the consequences of allowing him to remain.

The great trouble seems to be that women are incapable of estimating the price, but are perfectly capable of deluding themselves. Into believing there will be no price to pay. As if that could be so.

Everything has to be paid for in one form or another. Usually the woman who goes after another woman's husband loses even when she wins. He is almost never worth the price she has had to pay.

Lenient though the world has become on the subject of divorce, society hasn't changed much in its attitude toward the other woman. She is still an outlaw.

If she feels there are extenuating circumstances which justify her she must have the courage of her convictions and be satisfied with her position in society, which is outside looking in.

If girls who think love affairs with married men are romantic could only be given the gift of clairvoyance much misery might be spared them.

He was unarmed. Police said he admitted one hold-up here and said he had lived at two addresses, one in San Francisco and the other in Oakland.

Police questioned him regarding a service station murder in Sacramento and another in Stockton. They also sought information from him as to possible association with Alfred Frezza, 22, held in Oakland, and four youths in custody in Los Angeles, held on suspicion of being the robber-kidnapers who operated between Los Angeles and Sacramento.

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, min-eral water, all laxative candy or chewing gum, and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a tickle, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get things two pounds of bile freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, making them ideal for making the bile flow freely.

But don't take liver pills, ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the trademark, Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Recent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

13 Mexican officials and soldiers, reportedly killed in skirmishes, were ordered by General Zenteno. However, Nolasco, with a garrison of less than 100 men, was not optimistic over prospects of receiving reinforcements in event of a raid.

The United Press learned, however, of several Sonora towns receiving warnings two weeks ago to resign from office or be killed.

The communications were signed "The Mob" and were sent to widely scattered places, indicating that local Mexican military observers fear that the revolt is directed by an influential faction or group of leaders.

WARNING SENT

Mayor Enrique Aguayo of Nolasco reported he received one of the warnings, but said he did not believe the raiders would attack the border town, a port of entry into the United States with American government buildings dividing the Mexican and Arizona sections of town.

A Mexican police official, who refused to allow his name to be used, said municipal officials in Sonora had knowledge of an impending uprising for several days. Border opinion held the scattered but accurately timed raids show every indication of careful planning.

TROOPS SENT

Raiders south of Chihuahua occurred just before the attack on Santa Ana and Magdalena, were municipal officials and police reported. Federal troops were dispatched to the southern zone leaving the two towns undefended. The border was comparatively quiet, with the few remaining troops loitering about the Nolasco Presidio, all heavily armed, but apparently not seriously concerned over the situation.

Federal defense plans relied chiefly on ability of a few Mexican military airplanes from Hermosillo to scout the rebel forces and destroy them from the air. Rebel forces were armed with rifles and machine guns.

NRS Under Fire, Director Replies

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15—Charges that the National Relief Service in Contra Costa has failed to insist upon employment of relief takers positions offered them, demands from executives of the WPA and the SERA that there be proper functioning of the agency, and a plea by the Contra Costa Citizens' Relief committee that the Contra Costa employment service be divorced from Solano county directorship had emanated today from a meeting of the citizens' committee here last evening.

ASKS WRITTEN CHARGES
Charges voiced by committee members against the NRS, administered at Richmond by Ralph Wood, brought a request from Walter Koeitz, WPA director for Contra Costa and Alameda counties that he be furnished with specific instances in which employment situations have not been met. Committee members said he would be supplied with them.

DEMANDS ACTION
Declaring the President has made the plea that industry and agriculture should take persons now on relief L. L. Galbraith of Richmond, a committee member, asserted that "farmers and industry have asked for workers, there are 1500 employable men on the relief rolls and we want to know why they're not going to work."

CHARGES AILED
Among charges brought out at the meeting, to which the citizens' committee, an advisory and supervisory relief group, had invited WPA and SERA executives, were the following:

That Glen Stout, former SERA director of the county and now SERA director in Alameda county, was "untrained" by an NRS official when he sent the social service workers of his bureau into the field to recruit 80 persons for employment by the Police & Prison cannery in Richmond after the Richmond office of the NRS had failed to provide them from the employment rolls.

That Wood, in explaining assertion of failure to certify eligible employables to work at Mare Island, said he had not done so in some instances because he "felt sorry for people who couldn't get along on $14 per month," the WPA "security wage," with the statement carrying the indication he sorted cases.

That a request for tomato pickers went unfulfilled because it was considered persons who might be assigned to the work couldn't make any money but that a subsequent investigation established they could make from $2 to $3 a day.

That only seven persons were assigned to a Calaveras county forest service supervised project on a request for 50 men and that five of these returned complaining they had to walk three miles to work each day.

That on another work request for 150 men in hop fields only 50 were supplied when there were 500 employable single men in the county.

That without harvesters could not be secured because the agency was not functioning properly.

That a specific request for 25 tomato pickers failed to get a single worker.

NOT FUNCTIONING
In presenting the situation, Galbraith said:

"I feel that the NRS is not functioning properly. Something must be done to get men to work. There are two men and two secretaries in the Richmond office and a field man. The county has made an allowance of $1.00 per year for relief and other purposes. They are not putting enough to work and taking enough off the rolls. I have visited the office and I have been told that they have not opportunity to get into the field."

"My investigation indicates that proper contact has not been kept with the SERA. The President has asked industry and agriculture to get people off relief. We've got to get here. If four people have to remain in the Richmond office all the time and there is no money to try and locate work for employables, then we might as well have the office closed. The important element is we have to get people off the relief rolls when bona fide jobs are offered."

MISTAKE, SAYS WOOD
Ralph Wood, NRS director, whose office was the target of caustic criticism at the meeting of the Contra Costa Citizens' Relief Committee at Martinez, last evening, said that he thought when the committee understood the situation, it would take an entirely different view of the matter.

"Simply in the interest of justice I believe the committee should have sought an explanation from me first before going publicly to the criticism concerning my office," he said. "If they will come here I am sure they will get an understanding of many things which they now do not possess."

"Personally I think the record of the office in taking 650 people off the relief rolls within a period of six weeks is quite an accomplishment, particularly when the fact is taken into consideration that there is not one WPA project in operation in this county. In fact there are only one in the entire area of Contra Costa and Solano counties, that at Mare Island, and I have sent 350 men there."

"While criticizing me for not furnishing men to pick tomatoes and for other agricultural employment in the eastern end of the county, the fact should be made plain that PWA makes no financial provision for transportation. The great majority of these men do not own autos and have no way of reaching the place of employment and the wages offered were not such as permitted them to pay for it."

At the same time Wood declared that 125 persons had been cut off from relief rolls because of their refusal to accept work and that the same number is about to be dropped.

"The whole thing is a misunderstanding and I am sure can be easily straightened out if the committee will come to my office, examine my records and permit me to explain things," he said.

"for she had the idea that I would be a nickel on anything."

To cap the climax it might be added that they are both playing the lottery game, but fortunately in different pools.

I wonder just what will be the reaction when they discover the truth?

VOLUME BUYING

The publicized economy exercised in the feeding of inmates of our State mental hospitals and reform schools, does not, poor as I am, incline me to be a criminal or to qualify for entrance to the nut house.

The facts, however, are interesting, and show what volume buying can accomplish. If the housewife of California was in a position to purchase on a similar scale she could set a good table for her family at the cost of six cents each.

At that rate 25,470 institution inmates are given three good meals a day with fruit, cereal, bread and butter, syrup, coffee, milk and sugar for breakfast, meat, potatoes, vegetables, bread and butter, tea and dessert for lunch; soup, meat, potatoes, or rice or spaghetti, vegetables, bread, butter and milk for supper. Main dishes are provided twice a day. The diet is varied and there is no prohibition on second helpings.

WORLD FAIRS

There seems to be an epidemic of world fairs and so many are projected it is difficult to keep track of them all. Valiant, little San Diego, beat the starting gun and got away in the lead in this race. It has a nice show and well worth attending, is the word that visitors bring back.

San Francisco is going to celebrate the completion of the bay bridges—an engineering feat well worthy of commemoration—in 1937. That city never does anything by halves and will have an exhibition that will cause other places to extend themselves to the utmost to equal it.

Now New York, proud in its magnificence, comes forth with the announcement that it is going to do things in a big way along that line in 1939. The exposition will cover more than 1,000 acres and will cost over $40,000,000, the excuse for the outburst of civic enthusiasm being the date will mark the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as the first president of the United States, which is patriotic reason enough for any celebration.

Incidentally Houston, Texas, is also planning to go places and do things in an exposition-way and there are other cities also that intend to bring their light out from under a bushel so that men may see and admire their accomplishments; which is as it should be.

ETHIOPIANS TO ADVANCE
ETHIOPIAN SOUTHERN ARMY HEADQUARTERS NEAR JIJIGA, VIA DJIBOUTI Oct. 15—UP—Ethiopian troops have started a "general attack" on General Rodolpho Graziani's columns invading Oga-den province from Italian Somaliland, Dejazmatch Nasseibu, commanding Emperor Haile Selassie's southern armies, announced today.

The decision to attack followed a conference of black chieftains at Nasseibu's rude, whitewashed headquarters here, and formal charges—including a report to Emperor Haile Selassie by an American medical missionary—of Italian atrocities.

The general attack order apparently does not mean any mass offensive by the Ethiopians but rather an intensification of their guerrilla tactics and a determination to hold front line fortified positions, such as those around Garrahai—some 200 miles to the southeast—with every resource at their command.

Mooney Witness Is Declared Perjurer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15—UP—Earl K. Hatcher, "the perfect defense witness" stoutly added Tom Mooney's case today when he insisted that the star witness against the famed prisoner in his original trial must have perjured himself.

Hatcher, a resident of Woodland, Calif., claimed that Frank C. Oxman, who identified Mooney and Warren K. Billings in their trial for the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing, was in Woodland the day of the explosion.

have to be under construction by June 15.

The three plants, plaintiffs in the action conformed to this order, but assert that when the time for the alignment on June 15 came, the new plants were discriminated against, and were only given a half permit or 2-150 tons per year, while all of the old plants were issued full permits of 4,320 tons.

Plaintiffs assert that the Fish and Game Commissioners have no right under the law to make allotments and are assuming power that is not legally given them.

In the action, a decree is asked to the effect the State officials are exceeding their authority, that the plaintiffs be permitted to operate without being discriminated against, and that a permanent injunction be issued.

Stabilization Of Currency Hopeless

PARIS, Oct. 15—UP—International stabilization of currency "is further away than ever," because of the League sanctions against Italy, United States Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and French government officials asserted tonight.

An important official of the Bank of France told the United Press that "Mr. Morgenthau is taking away with him, after a series of private visits, the definite impression that any move at the present time for stabilization of currencies is hopeless."

Political circles asserted that on the basis of results thus far achieved Italy could not accept any formula which failed to approach the maximum of the League program. It was not believed that the League would intervene in the conflict.

High School Board Turns Down Claim

negligence."

SITE IS STUDIED
Considerable study and discussion was held by the board on the site of a proposed junior high school in El Cerrito. City Engineer H. D. Chapman of El Cerrito appeared before the board and discussed the proposed site. He has been employed by the owners of the land to draw up a map of the site.

Helms reported that he had not received any word on the WPA project for the reconstruction of the Roosevelt Junior high school auditorium. However, the WPA sent the board a resolution, which was adopted by a unanimous vote, empowering Helms to sign all agreements with the WPA. Board members expressed high hopes that the project, which was started under the SERA but was abandoned when that alphabetical organization passed out of existence, will be given approval by the WPA and work will be resumed before November 1.

TO BUY TELESCOPE
The board instructed Helms to inspect a telescope offered to the high school by Mrs. L. St. John Hely and to purchase it providing the cost was not too high. The telescope was constructed by the late Dr. L. St. John Hely who was an amateur astronomer, and can be used by the science classes at the high school. Helms stated that he had been told that the "scope is in good condition."

All members of the board were in attendance. Robert Collins, the president, presided.
